

July 2017

Greater Nashua Smart Start Coalition is focusing on a three activities over the summer while we identify leaders to move our goal plan forward. We are spreading the word about Vroom through the Greater Nashua Healthcare communities. Erin Wallace, student at Franklin Pierce College, has developed a presentation for us and is making appointments for lunch & learn opportunities at our family medical practices. We recently promoted Vroom at the Souhegan Valley Chamber of Commerce Health and Wellness Fair and the Ash Street Community Block Party. The NH Center for Women and Enterprise and will be hosting an evening for owners and operators of child-care centers and home-businesses. During this event, our coalition will share connections to community resources that can help strengthen their educational program delivery and Center for Women and Enterprise will be offering some tools and resources that will help strengthen their business as well. We are still working to build momentum for parent lead meet-ups. Parents are busy and it is hard to find good meeting times. Lastly, we look forward to checking out the new spaces to promote positive parenting and early brain building at Child and Family Services, Nashua Public Library and with My Brother's Keeper Initiative.
